

SEINERS AT NEWPORT.

Two Landed Fresh Mackerel Fares There Yesterday.

Sch. "Alert Has Fine Cape Shore Trip at Boston.

Sch. Arthur Binney, Capt. Rufus McKay, was at Newport yesterday with 5000 fresh mackerel. Sch. Emerald, Capt. Al. Greenlaw, was also there with 4000 fresh mackerel.

Another of the Cape Shore seining fleet is at Boston this morning, sch. Alert, Capt. Almon I. Malloch, with 150 barrels of salt mackerel and 25,000 fresh mackerel in count.

The Cape Shore catch of salt mackerel is 5118 barrels. The Cape Shore seiners have also brought 5641 barrels of fresh mackerel.

The crew of sch. Independence II, Capt. Lemuel Firth, shared $102.68 on their Cape Shore trip.

The receipts of new salt mackerel this year are 1042 barrels, all Irish, against none at this time last year.

The fare of sch. Esperanto sold to William H. Jordan & Co. and that of sch. Lucania to Sylvanus Smith & Co. at $9 per barrel.

Sch. Clintonia, Capt. Ralph Webber, stocked $5140 on her Cape Shore trip, the crew sharing $120.84.

The catch of salt mackerel to date is 5161 barrels against 33 barrels at this time last year.

The catch of fresh mackerel to date is 13,539 barrels against 21,161 barrels at this time last year.

The following netters were at Newport yesterday:

Sch. Lewis Totman, 25 barrels.
Sch. Jennie H. Gilbert, 44 barrels.
Sch. Sabine, 23 barrels.
Sch. Gracie, 12 barrels.
Sch. A. C. Newhall, 39 barrels.

A word from Dingle, Ireland, dated June 1 says 12,000 mackerel were cured last week. The fish are rather small going about 400 to 420 count to the barrel.

The following netters were at New Bedford Thursday with fresh mackerel.

Sloop Minerva, 15 barrels.
Sloop J. A. Caswell, 25 barrels.
Sloop Dart, 25 barrels.
Sloop Eleanor, 10 barrels.

The draggers at Provincetown got from 50 to 200 fish to a boat Thursday night.

The Halifax steamer had 898 barrels of fresh mackerel at Boston yesterday.

Sch. Lucania, at Boston yesterday from the Cape Shore, reported getting her last haul on Tuesday, 30 miles east of Causo.

Sch. Lafayette was at Newport yesterday with 3000 large fresh mackerel.

Capt. George Peebles was home from Newport, last night. He says that some of the mackerel landed there are being put in the new freezer. About all the mackerel taken are large, with a few scattering mediums. The seiners out there do not seem to think there is much body to the fish at present.

The steamer Bessie Dugan of Portland is fitting for mackerel seining at Boston.

Sch. Charles A. Dyer is in this morning with 75 barrels of fresh shad and 100 fresh mackerel in count, seined yesterday off here.

The salt mackerel of sch. Alert sold to Lincoln & Willey of Boston at $9 per barrel. The fresh one went to J. Burns & Co.

The following netters were at Newport yesterday and today:

Sch. Hobo, 30 barrels large fresh mackerel
Sch. Cherokee, 16 barrels large fresh mackerel.
Sch. Sabine, 20 barrels large fresh mackerel.

Sch. A. C. Newhall, 37 barrels, large fresh mackerel.

Sch. Valkyrie, 20 barrels large fresh mackerel.

BIG WEEK'S WORK.

Little Sch. Valentinna Stocked Over $1600 on Swordfish.

Crew Profited Well, Sharing $115 to a Man.

Capt. Charles O'Neil of sch. Valentinna, which had the big swordfish trip at T wharf the first of the season, yesterday, report some of the fish very large for this time of the year, going over 300 pounds.

They got the first fish last Sunday on the southwestern part of Georges in 80 fathoms of water. The fish was brought alongside the vessel by Charles Peters, who went out in his dory after the fish had been speared.

Capt. O'Neil and his crew, after discharging the cargo, collected just $1656.75 from the dealers on the wharf.

The Valentinna had been out eight days on the trip and the 10 men comprising the crew each received $115 a an for his share.

Capt. O'Neil reported on his arrival that the swordfishermen Nokomis, Motor, Maromet, Eva Mildred and Ella M. Doughty, were all on Georges when he left there, cruising for fish.

The first trip brought in last year was by sch. Motor, which she loaded on June 24, and at that time had 42 fish to her credit. The recent trip is nearly two weeks ahead of last year's.

DESPERATE FIGHT.

Portland Fishermen Had Fierce Struggle with Swordfish.

The crew of sch. Eva and Mildred, which arrived at T wharf, Boston, yesterday, from the southern edge of Georges, told of a fierce fight between a swordfish and Anthony Dexter, one of the crew, which took place on the fishing grounds.

Dexter left the schooner in the dory to round up a 300-pound fish, which had been lanced by the man in the pulp. The fish attempted to ram the dory with his sword, and it was some time before Dexter succeeded in getting it into the dory. Then it struck the seat, on which Dexter was sitting, with its tail, knocking the man into the water.

Dexter said the blow threw him into the air and he hardly knew what had happened until he struck the cold water. By that time the fish had worked the dory over on its side until one of the gunwales was under water. Dexter dove under the dory and coming up on the other side, succeeded in bringing the boat to an even keel. Then he tried to pull himself into the boat, and after much exertion he got over the side and fell on top of the fish.

Every time Dexter would try to regain his feet the tail of the monster would knock him down and he was in danger of being killed by the wicked sword, which the fish tried to push into his body. The boat was nearly full of water and the fisherman was fast becoming exhausted. By good luck he managed to hit the fish over the head with the end of an oar and won the battle.

ALL MONEY MAKERS.

Lots of Fine Ground Fish Trips Are in Today.

Three from Cape North Help Swell the Big Total.

Ground fish are in liberal receipt today, there being several large fares here and at Boston. Hake and cod predominate, with a sprinkling of cusk, pollock and haddock.

Sch. James W. Parker, Capt. George Tufts, is at this port from Cape North with 30,000 pounds of salt cod and 150,000 pounds of fresh cod, and sch. Raymah, Capt. Felix Hogan, is also here with 190,000 pounds of fresh cod. Sch. Onato, Capt. J. Henry Larkin, is at this port from Quero bank with 190,000 pounds of fresh cod and 5000 pounds of halibut.

From the Rips, sch. Volant, Capt. Allen Dolman, sch. Etta Mildred, Capt. John Swim, and sch. Olympia, Capt. Nickerson, each have about 50,000 pounds of salt cod, fine fares indeed.

The little steamer Mystery came in from Ipswich bay late yesterday afternoon, loaded to the gunwale and her seineboat full, towing behind. She had pollock and the captain called them 40,000 pounds.

The pretty sch. Maggie Turner of Portland is making her first call here, having 110,000 pounds, mostly hake, from the Maine coast.

Sch. Quickstep, Capt. Longmeyer, is in this morning with one of her usual loads of hake and cusk.

At Boston, outside the mackerel, the star trips are sch. Motor, Capt. Herman Pennington, of this port, with 52 swordfish, and the Portland sch. Eva and Mildred with 68 swordfish. There is big money in both these fares.

Sch. Alice M. Guthrie, Capt. Martin Guthrie, has 128,000 pounds, about all hake, from Cashes, and sch. Vanessa, Capt. Valentine O'Neil, from the same spot, has 140,000 pounds of the same kind of fish.

The little sch. Mattakesett, Capt. John Robbins, has a load of shack, 51,000 pounds.

Several of the fresh Rips fleet are also there with good fares and in fact every trip here and Boston today is a money maker.

WHALING STEAMER LOST.

San Francisco, June 13.—A private cable from Nome received in this city says that the whaling steamer William Baylis of New Bedford, Mass., has been lost in the icepack in Anadyr bay, Siberia. It is believed her crew was rescued by the whaler Bowhead and are now on board the steam whaler Jeanette.

MACKEREL ON THE RIPS.

Sch. Dauntless Makes Fine
Haul, Markets at Newport.

NETTERS ARE DOING WELL TOO.

Seven More Fine Trips Arrive from the Cape Shore.

That the Cape Shore is not "the whole show" is shown this morning by the receipt of a telegram to the Times from Newport, announcing the arrival there of sch. Dauntless, Capt. John Mattheson, of this port with 250 barrels of large fresh mackerel. The fish were taken yesterday, 55 miles southeast of No Man's Land, which would be on the Rips, not far from South Shoal lightship.

This is very encouraging news as it shows that the fish must have struck on the Rips in good schools and it is a ground on which when the fish once strike in, they remain generally about all summer. The Rips fishermen have been reporting mackerel schooling there the past few days, and this haul bears out their assertion that the fish seen were mackerel and not pollock or herring.

The good work of the Cape Shore fleet continues to be in evidence, seven vessels arriving from there since last report, all of them but one having fresh mackerel along with their salt ones, put the cream on their catches.

The arrivals at this port are as follows:

Sch. Effie M. Prior, Capt. Elroy Prior, 370 barrels salt mackerel, 17,000 fresh mackerel.

Sch. Grayling, Capt. Joseph Smith, 270 barrels salt mackerel, 17,000 fresh mackerel.

Sch. Slade Gorton, Capt. George E. Heekman, 300 barrels salt mackerel.

The following vessels are at Boston:

Sch. Terra Nova, Capt. John J. Hickey, 212 barrels salt mackerel, 15,000 fresh mackerel.

Sch. Mary E. Harty, Capt. Reuben Cameron, 300 barrels salt mackerel, 25,000 fresh mackerel.

Sch. Lizzie M. Stanley, Capt. Joshua W. Stanley, 193 barrels salt mackerel, 15,000 fresh mackerel.

Sch. Aloha, Capt. John McInnis, 180 barrels salt mackerel, 25,000 fresh mackerel.

Fresh mackerel at Boston this morning are selling at 13 cents each for large and 9 cents each for mediums.

Salt mackerel are selling today at $9 per barrel. The fares of schs. Effie M. Prior, Terra Nova and Lizzie M. Stanley sold to Fred Bradley, that of sch. Aloha sold to the Gloucester Mackerel Co., those of schs. Mary E. Harty and Grayling to William H. Jordan & Co., and the fare of sch. Slade Gorton to the Gorton-Pew Fisheries Co.

The fresh mackerel of schs. Grayling and Effie M. Prior sold to the Gloucester Fresh Fish Co.

The following netters were at Newport late Friday with the following fares of large fresh mackerel:

Sloop Betsy Ross, 20 barrels.

Sloop City of Everett, 8 barrels.

Sch. Actor, 85 barrels.

Sch. Nautilus, 8 barrels.

At Newport, late Saturday were the following:

Sch. Sarah, 25 barrels.

Sch. Carrie, 24 barrels.

Sloop Hector, 5 barrels.

Sch. Gracie E. Freeman, 34 barrels.

Sch. Lewis E., 15 barrels.

The netters at Newport, R. I., this morning have 500 barrels of mackerel.

The following netters were at New Bedford late Friday with large fresh mackerel:

Sch. Angiela, 6 barrels.

Sch. Gracie Smith, 60 barrels.

Sch. Nancy, 21 barrels.

Sch. Little Jennie, 3 barrels.

Sloop Crescent, 19 barrels.

Sloop Commodore, 9 barrels.

Sloop Active, 10 barrels.

Sloop Braganza, 15 barrels.

Sloop Magnolia, 14 barrels.

Sloop Torpedo, 3 barrels.

Sloop Albert Brown, 17 barrels.

Sloop Lewie Warren, 13 barrels.

Sloop Barbara, 21 barrels.

Sloop Malicia Enos, 10 barrels.

Sloop Caswell and Reliance, not reported.

Capt. Allen Dolman of sch. Volant reports that while codfishing on Brown's bank recently, he saw large schools of mackerel go by for several days in succession, evidently bound for the Cape Shore.

Schs. Rob Roy, Marguerite Haskins, Nellie Dixon, Theodore Roosevelt, Patricia, Cynthia, Saladin and Arthur James sailed from Canso on Friday last.

The Canadian Fish Bureau of Friday report some mackerel being taken at Lunenburg, very plenty at Canso, Port Malcolm, Arichat, West Arichat, Petit de Grat, D'Escousse, and Alberton, P. E. I., and fair at Queensport and Isaac's Harbor.

The fish traps at Yarmouth took from 8 to 12 barrels of mackerel on Friday last.

On Saturday mackerel were still plenty at Alberton, P. E. I., Canso, D'Escousse, Port Malcolm and fair at Petit de Grat.

A special to the Times this noon from Newport, R. I., reports the arrival there of sch. Elizabeth Silsbee, Capt. John A. McKinnon, with 150 barrels of large fresh mackerel caught 55 miles southeast of No Man's Land. Capt. McKinnon reports a large body of fish there, but very wild. A fleet of eight seiners was working on them. Capt. McKinnon reports sch. Victor got a haul of 40 barrels.

FISH WITH HEADLIGHTS.

Since it is believed that the rays of the sun do not penetrate below a depth of 200 fathoms, it follows that fishes living that depth must possess special organs in order to pursue and capture their prey. Thus are found many fishes with luminous glands or plates situated on the head, tail and gill covers.

One species has a brilliant headlight extending along the side of the upper jaw, and nearly to the eye. Another of the same genus has a lantern on its tail; and in some forms there exists two veritable side lights located on the gill covers. These fishes have been taken from depths ranging from 3300 to nearly 10,000 feet, and both species have been found off the coasts of the United States; one with the dredge from the Pacific ocean, the other from the stomach of a codfish captured on the banks of Newfoundland. Other species have their bodies covered with phosphorescent spots, by which the water below them is illuminated. Others have eyes on top of the head, and are called star gazers. The phosphorescent glands are usually of an iridescent, pale gold color when seen on freshly caught fish.

In many fishes that live only at a depth of about 500 feet the eye is larger than in those living near the surface. This organ appears to increase in size in proportion to the depth of the fish's habitat. An abnormal eye formation occurs in one of the flounders taken from a depth of about 500 feet. It is cross eyed, one eye being situated below and in advance of the other. Adult flounders have both eyes on one side of the head.

One of the most hideous forms of fish life is the chiasmodon. It has been found in 9000 feet of water. It is capable of swallowing a fish many times larger than itself.

Marine Algae Exhibit.

An exhibit of marine algae will be given at the Sawyer school this afternoon at 3 o'clock. On the second floor in the fifth and sixth rooms may be seen the Mrs. Maria H. Bray collection, presented to the school several years ago. On the same floor, seventh room, will be shown mosses from about the Cape and other Massachusetts algae. In room number eight, second floor, will be exhibited selections from the school cabinet. In room number seven, second floor, will be in practical use, three microscopic, two dissecting and one compounding in charge of two teachers. On the third floor, ninth room, will be a class in the practical work of mounting algae. In the hall of the third floor will be set up and working the Sawyer printing press, managed wholly by the pupils. Souvenir cards will here be printed for visiting friends, who desire them. The public is cordially invited.

STEALING MACKEREL.

Officer Marsh Rounded Up Three Culprits Tuesday Evening.

Officer Marsh was called to Jordan's wharf about 8 o'clock Tuesday evening, where he found three boys about 10 years of age stealing mackerel. He secured their names and took them to the police station.

BIG LOSS OF LIFE.

Twenty-Two Lunenburg Men Have Gone Down Since January 1.

Since the beginning of the year 22 men of the deep sea and fishing fleet have been drowned from Lunenburg. Fifteen were sailors and seven were fishermen.

STRUCK FISH AGAIN.

Homeward Bound Seiners Made Hauls Friday Off Canso, N. S.

Two More Mackerel Catchers Have Fares at Newport.

Evidently the seiners have struck a good working body of fish off South Shoal lightship, for sch. Victor, Capt. John W. McFarland is at Newport this morning with 150 barrels of large fresh mackerel and sch. Priscilla Smith, Capt. William J. Corkum, is also there with 125 barrels of large fresh mackerel.

Sch. Florida, one of the netters, is at Newport this morning with 45 barrels of fresh mackerel.

Sch. Francis J. O'Hara, Jr., arrived at Boston about 9 o'clock this forenoon with 300 barrels of salt mackerel and 20,000 fresh mackerel, the latter being taken off Canso, as the vessel was bound home, only last Friday. When the O'Hara docked another seiner was coming up the harbor.

Capt. Wesley Farmer of sch. Patrician reports that about all the Cape Shore seining fleet are on their way home. He reports sch. Rob Roy coming with 100 barrels of salt mackerel and some fresh mackerel, the latter taken recently.

The following netters were at Newport late yesterday:

Sch. Lydia, 25 bbls. fresh mackerel.
Sch. N. A. Rowe, 34 bbls. fresh mackerel.
The fares of schs. Natalie J. Nelson and Patrician sold to Fred Bradley at $9 per barrel.

The Irish salt mackerel fishing has improved considerably of late at most of the stations. Among the recent shipments were 100 barrels, by the Carodia, for New York, and 126, by the Devonian, for Philadelphia.

A Liverpool, England, report gives the shipments of Irish mackerel for the week ending June 6 as follows: To Boston, 938 barrels; to all other ports 1300; total, 2238. Count of shipments, 300 to 350. State of fishing fair to good.

One hundred tons of mackerel were sent away from Milford Haven recently, when a lot of small fish made no more than 3 s. 6 d. per 120; but with light supplies later the price rose to 8 s., a few Irish landing daily making 13 s. to 16 s. per 120. Several mackerel buyers have closed operations.

Chebucto Bay, N. S., reports the greatest catches in the history of the place. Thousands of barrels are being salted.

DOES GOOD WORK.

French Hospital Ship Now on Banks with Fleet.

The French hospital ship St. Francis d'Assisi arrived at Sydney last week from the coast of Newfoundland. The mission of the vessel is to minister to the spiritual and physical needs of the fishermen on the high seas. The work is carried on by the Societe des Oeuvres Mer et was established in 1904. The ship leaves Havre on March 15 each year and visits Iceland during the first part of the fishing season, then crosses to Newfoundland about May. She makes five or six cruises to the Banks, returning to France about the end of September with the sick and the convalescent. The work of the hospital ship is completed by two "homes," one at St. Pierre, Miq., and the other at Faskrudsfjord, Iceland, each under a chaplain.
